MPI problems 2

1. Write a program that determines which are the numbers with the highest and lowest values among those of a random generated sequence.

2. Write a program that computes the product of two square matrices.